Liberal Leader Charges Ministry With Indecision and Vacillation.

LONDON, March 29 .- The usual motion providing for the adjournment of the house of commons over the Easter holidays gave the liberal leader, Sir Henry Campbell-Bannerman, an opportunity to make a spirited attack on the government

He caustically criticised in detail the whole policy of the ministry, which, he declared, except in the matter of Chinese labor, was marked by "indecision, confusion and vacillation, a tortuous course and a misty atmosphere."

Sir Henry added that he did not think it was in accordance with the spirit of the constitution that Premier Balfour should retain power when the country had shown at every opportunity afforded it that he no longer enjoyed its favor.

Mr. Balfour, replying, said he noted the anxiety of the liberal leader that he should resign, but he was quite unable to see why the government should take the unprecedent. the government should take the unprecedented course of resigning office while it retained the confidence of the house.

He agreed with Lord Rosebery that the country should not be rushed in regard to the fiscal question and pointed out that the government majority was even now larger than the majority with which Sir Henry

Campbell-Bannerman assumed office in order to carry home rule.

There was no reason why the courage of the Unionists should be less than that of the liberals, nor why the unionists should relinquish their task because faint-hearted-ness had been shown in some directions. Sir Henry could settle the question of the government's resignation or not by a vote

Mr. Balfour concluded with declaring that the government's fiscal policy is that of real, progressive free trade. When Winston Spencer Churchill (con-servative) rose and pressed Mr. Balfour for servative) rose and pressed Mr. Balfour for a further explanation of the government's fiscal policy, saying the vacillation of the government had caused him to become one of its opponents instead of one of its supporters, the premier and all the unionists except ten trooped out of the house. The incident led to protests on the part of other members against the discourtesy shown to Mr. Churchill.

Maryland Legislature Passes Resolutions Thanking Col. Chaille-Long. Special Dispatch to The Evening Star.

ANNAPOLIS, Md., March 29,-The Maryland general assembly has recently passed in both branches a set of resolutions introduced by Senator Dashiell of Somerset highly commendatory to Colonel Charles Chaille-Long. The resolutions set forth that the thanks of the general assembly of the state of Maryland are tendered to Colonel Chaille-Long, a native of the state of Maryland, for his services to science; the prominent part taken in the final solution of the problem of the Nile sources; for his gallant conduct when attacked by savage tribes in Africa, and particularly in the Urooli affair, in which he was wounded, and for all of which he was promoted and decorated by the

The resolutions also recite that Colonel Chaille-Long deserves commendation for his courage, devotion and abnegation in accepting the unremunerative characteristics. cepting the unremunerative charge of the United States consulate in Alexandria, Egypt, when abandoned in 1882 by its titular agents in a moment of peril; for the splendid services he rendered in the inter-ests of humanity when Alexandria was bombarded and burned and when hundreds were saved from massacre, including the khedive family and court, and when the consulate, city and archives were saved from entire

ST. LOUIS, March 29 .- Counsel for Senator Burton today filed a motion in arrest of judgment and there is also before the court a motion for a new trial filed immediately after the verdict was rendered. Judge Adams will first have to dispose of these motions before sentence can be

The defense is preparing a bill of exceptions and making a complete record of the evidence introduced. It may be two or three days before this can be completed and the bill of exceptions on which to base a final appeal to the United States Court of Appeals can be made ready for filing. If sentence is finally passed upon Senator

Burton and his case is appealed, he will be released on bond pending the rehearing of the case which will probably be sometime next December.

SAVED FROM THE GALLOWS.

Reversal of Child's Testimony Saves Five Sentenced Men.

CHICAGO, March 29 .- A child's testimony reversed saved five men today from the gallows. The result was a striking parallel to the case in which a fortnight ago Millionaire Peter Van Vlissingen practically demonstrated that under police pressure a boy named Wiltrax had given false testimony leading to the conviction of the boy's father for murder.

Today's instance of youthful unreliability under oath was in the case of William Mc-Carthy and four Polish young men on trial for murder, the witness being a little girl, Appolonia Starosta, who first gave direct, straightforward, eye-witness testimony, apparently establishing beyond question the guilt of the men, and then repudiated her sworn evidence. In explanation of the remarkable change of front, the child declared that she had been instructed how to testify by the widow of the murdered man.

Charges against the prisoners were with drawn on the spot by the state's attorney the five men immediately walking out of the dock free by order of the court.

The property through which a portion of the street was opened formerly belonged to the university and the name Samson given to it in honor of the of eighty-four years the 29th ultimo. Mr. Crampsey was a native of Virginia, but practically a life-long resident of this city. In early life he learned and followed the trade of hatmaker. For many years he was late Dr. Samson. Mr. Samson asserted that the people living on the thoroughfare desire a uniform name, and he argued that Samson would be more appropriate than an employe of the Treasury Department, and in ante-bellum days was a volunteer fireman, attached to the old Franklin Fire any other. He said there are eight thoroughfares, including alleys, in the Dis-trict of Columbia, known by the name of Madison. He therefore argued it would be reduced to the condition of pulp required, after which the methods followed are very similar to those of the ordinary paper mill. It is somewhat of a singular sight to see the black peat fresh from the bog thrown into the mill at one end and follow it to the is: "Let us fight and win, let us fight # the mill at one end and follow it to the other end where it emerges as paper. It is claimed for the new industry, this latest discovery, that it will prove an opulent mine of wealth among the Irish people. Certainly the raw material is at hand in great abundance in the ample boglands of the island. And certainly the conversion of peat into paper as a profitable practical business is more than a little startling. But it is said that several of the Dublin wholesale paper houses are back of the enterprise

The process of converting the peat into paper is a wonderful metamorphosis. Carts are engaged hauling the raw peat from the bog, where it is dug direct to the mill. Then begin the various processes of cooking with the necessary chemicals until it becomes
